Fix, Firefox is now on the ballot, for the 26th time since its creation in 2004, as part of the Google Chrome, Opera, WebKit, and Mozilla Firefox bundles, and Samsung smart TVs and Blu-ray players, the company has announced. "Firefox is one of the few stable and fast options for users worldwide to browse the internet and use the web. We strongly believe Firefox has a valuable role to play in users' browsing experiences," said Shin Jong-suk, head of Samsung's IT and mobile division, in a statement. Samsung's blu-ray players and TVs now come with a custom Firefox browser that is optimized for the company's TVs and the HD Blu-ray Disc format, along with some other enhancements. Though the new browser doesn't incorporate any specific Firefox features, it will enable users to browse on these TVs and Blu-ray players with HTML5-enabled websites. In order to use the new browser, customers need to download the browser (3.0GB), which is supported on Windows 7 or 8, and Mac OS X 10.7.4 or later. Via Engadget "We wanted to build an experience that will enhance users' digital viewing experience," said Jung Sung-woo, head of marketing and consumer affairs for Samsung Electronics' head of mobile department in Korea, in a statement. "We are very excited to have that with this new version of Firefox on [its] latest products." Samsung's blu-ray players and TVs also support features like Netflix, YouTube, Twitter, Google Search, and Facebook. Firefox and WebKit browsers come with more than 200 features, but they do not support Firefox's API for third-party developers, to meet the demands of a growing number of feature-rich 50b96ab0b6

How do i know my moves in chess is random? Does anyone knows how to show that all my moves in chess has a random chance of winning. Please try to explain with simple assembly code. A: First of all, your game needs a random number generator. If you build a random number generator, you'll probably end up with something like xor ax, ax ; clear the accumulator mov cx, 1023 ; we'll use a lot of random number mov bl, 0x
